We have a strong partnership with the Sikh Research Institute, through their project "Sojhi" which seeks to improve the effectiveness of Sikh education by developing high standards of learning with comprehensive teaching materials. They have produced a curriculum, (befittingly titled "Sojhi" which means "insight") which is oriented around the goal of developing insight to inspire a Guru-centered life from theology to Gurmukhi to history to Panjabi. Guru Gobind Singh Ji Academy School uses the K through 5th grade curriculum. In addition to the knowledge and research of our teachers, we also continue to bring in best practices from the Sikh community at large. We have also ran special programs like Sikh Symposium and an annual Gurmat Quiz.

Since 2008, the Sikh Research Institute has delivered numerous teacher training, student workshops and adult seminars at Guru Tegh Bahadur Ji Foundation. In 2011, GGSA hosted the National Sikh Education Conference at UCONN in Stamford. Last year, we hosted a Teacher Training Day and a Parents Seminar on "Nurturing a Sikh child";.
